

Building career as a Linux System Administrator

Summary Report:

Department of Information Technology conducted one day workshop of “Building a Career as a Linux System Administrator ”on 12th September , 2025 for the Bsc. I.T. students. This workshop aims to create awareness among students about career opportunities in Linux system administration and to provide practical guidance on skills, certifications, and career pathways required to become a successful Linux System Administrator.

In Inauguration session Prof. Swati Farde introduced the resource person, Prof. Yuvraj Wagh from VPM's R. Z. Shah College Mulund. Prof. Leena Karan from Department Information Technology welcomed Principal Dr. Prof. A. K. Singh, Vice Principal Dr. S. L. Gaikwad , IQAC Coordinator Dr. S. S. Waghmode, Resource person Yuvraj Wagh and all the I.T. staff members. In introductory speech Prof. Leena Karan explained about Linux operating systems and their real-world applications in servers, data centers, and cloud environments.

Principal Dr. A. K. Singh explains the importance of workshop as it helps the students to understand the scope and importance of Linux administration in today's IT industry. Principal sir gave best wishes to the organizing team and participants for a successful and enriching session. Prof. Monika Bangar gave the vote of thanks to all the dignitaries and invited resource person to continue the next session.

In next session, the resource person explained the responsibilities of a Linux System Administrator, including system installation, configuration, user management, networking, security, and troubleshooting.

The workshop on Building Career as a Linux System Administrator was highly informative and beneficial. It successfully guided students towards understanding Linux administration as a promising career option and encouraged them to enhance their technical skills through continuous learning and practice.