About College

Our college is located in rural, hilly and tribal belt of Thane District of Maharashtra. Shahapur is a census town and is the largest taluka in Thane district, that is surrounded by Western Ghats of Sahyadri. It is located at latitude 19.4554720 N and longitude 73.33125390 E.

Dnyanvardhini Trust was founded in the year 1984 to fill in the vacuum in the field of education in Shahapur Taluka. There was no degree college in the hilly, rural and tribal belt extending from Igatpuri to Bhiwandi and Kalyan. Some socially awakened people from this taluka came together under the leadership of Late Sonubhau Baswant and Late Naginbhai Vasa together with Vyapari Mandal, Shahapur and ultimately Dnyanvardhini Trust was founded. The college is permanently affiliated to University of Mumbai and the college has obtained UGC Recognition i.e., 2(f) & 12-B status.

About Library

All data entry of old books is completed and newly purchased books and subscribed periodicals are entered in regularly.

About Seminar

India's rich and diverse knowledge system, developed over thousands of years, is one of the world's most treasured cultural heritages. From Ayurveda, Yoga, and indigenous medicinal practices to art forms, traditional agriculture, and crafts, India's knowledge systems have sustained both its people and its culture for generations. However, the rapid digitization of information, coupled with the global flow of digital content, presents new challenges and opportunities for the protection of this invaluable knowledge.

Preservation and protection of India's traditional knowledge and cultural heritage is a critical issue that needs urgent attention. The digital age presents both challenges and opportunities to protect these invaluable resources. By harnessing the tools of Intellectual Property Rights (IPR), we can ensure that India's traditional knowledge is protected, respected and used sustainably in the rapidly evolving digital landscape. The symposium will provide a platform to discuss these issues and propose solutions to ensure that India's rich cultural heritage remains a living resource, benefiting local communities and the world at large.

As part of the One-Day Online Seminar on 'Preservation and Protection of Indian Knowledge System through Intellectual Property Rights in the Digital Age' we invite scholars, researchers, legal experts, policymakers, and practitioners to submit original articles for presentation and discussion. This seminar aims to delve into how Intellectual Property Rights (IPR) can safeguard India's traditional knowledge, while also addressing the pressing challenges in the digital era.

The Purpose of this Seminar

It is to examine the opportunities and difficulties of utilizing intellectual property rights (IPR) to safeguard and maintain traditional knowledge in India in the digital age. The seminar will offer how India may use intellectual property rights (IPR) to protect its rich cultural legacy while promoting innovation, empowerment, and sustainable development by looking at current legislative frameworks, cutting-edge technology, and international best practices.
